Act 1, Scene 1
Introduction

No curtain. No scenery. The audience, arriving, sees an Umpqua Yearbook in half-light.

Presently the STAGE MANAGER, hat on and pipe in mouth, enters and begins the yearbook story.

STAGE MANAGER. This annual is called Our School. It was written by the Umpqua Yearbook staff; produced by Taylor Publishing Company; directed by Mr. Don Bodeen. In it you will see all the characters essential to our school.

The name of the school is Roseburg High School, Roseburg, Oregon, not too far north of the California line: longitude one hundred twenty-three degrees, twenty minutes; latitude forty-three degrees, fifteen minutes.

This one act annual shows a day in our school. The year is 1977-78.

The STAGE MANAGER takes a deep breath and continues.

STAGE MANAGER. Well, I'd better show you how our school lies. Up here is the center of activity, the Main Building. If you take two quick right turns as you enter, you'll find yourself in the Main Office. Here you can find secretaries busy at work, and behind their desks you can find the offices of such dignitaries as our school's first citizen, Dr. Dale Nees, Principal. Anyway, still in the Main Building and just a few steps down the hall from the Main Office is the Counseling Center, where the students of our school go to seek all kinds of help and advice.

Encompassing the Main Building are the other buildings of our school: Stewart W. Robertson Memorial Gymnasium, Vo-Tech, Commons (President Gerald Ford's son Steve once made a speech off the second floor here), Bandroom, Library Arts, Old Shop, and Humanities. The Humanities houses all three of our school's publications — Umpqua Yearbook, Orange-R newspaper, and the Literary Magazine. Most everybody in our school manages to take a look at these publications sometime during the year.

BEAVER 1985

STAGE MANAGER. Before we go on, I want you to know some more things about the school — all kinds of things. So I've asked Mr. Findley of our Science Department to come down here and sketch in a few details — kind of scientific account, you might say. Is Mr. Findley here?

May I introduce Mr. Findley of our Science Department. A few brief notes, Mr. Findley — unfortunately our time is limited.

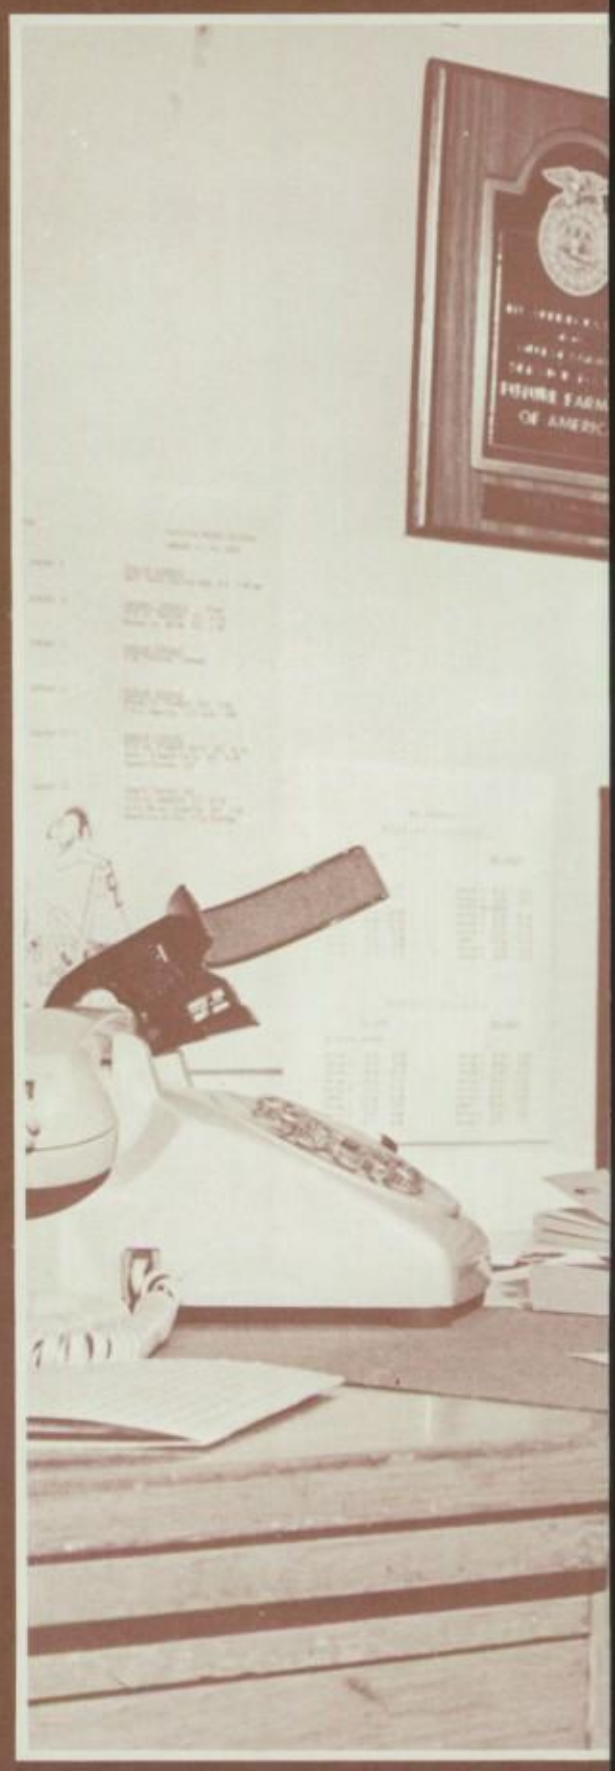
MR. FINDLEY. Roseburg High School . . . let me see . . . The mean precipitation is thirty-two inches. The mean annual temperature is fifty-four degrees. The . . . uh . . .

STAGE MANAGER. Have you the enrollment. Mr. Findley?

MR. FINDLEY. Within the campus gates, 1643. Do you want the drop-out and suspension statistics?

STAGE MANAGER. Thank you, no. But thank you very much for your time today, Mr. Findley. We're all very much obliged to you, I'm sure. It's time for us to be moving on, you know.

STAGE MANAGER. As Administration Editor for our school, Susan Powell gained a personal link with the administration that she wouldn't have had otherwise.



Board regards construction

These are the people necessary to every school system who are seldom seen. They are the members of our school board. They meet every other Wednesday to discuss, plan and review their actions. They are responsible for keeping the schools supplied with teachers, negotiating contracts, planning for any construction of school facilities necessary in the future and various things too numerous to mention.

Among other things, this year they have begun preliminary studies on three possible building projects in the district. The projects include, an elementary school at Sunnyslope, remodeling of Fremont Junior High, and remodeling and new construction here at RHS.

Leaders donate money to charity

Leadership class was busy this year. Besides those things like homecoming and the Christmas Ball, which they work on every year, they worked on additional projects.

Two of these projects were the quad and the faculty-varsity game. They tried to beautify the quad with picnic tables and trees and thought of grass as a future possibility. The faculty-varsity game, a charity project, earned money, one half of which they donated to KAO.

They had regular meetings twice a week. On other days they worked on such projects as planning for the quad changes and the faculty-varsity game. Mr. Ron Sturtz served as their advisor, with Dr. Nees and Mr. Welch visiting occasionally. They had a profitable year and achieved all the major goals they set for themselves.

Dr. Nees works for students

Now here's another important man on our campus. This is Dr. Ness, our dedicated principal. He had a very busy year. He has worked hard on four special projects along with his normal duties.

One of these projects dealt with the guide/guidee program introduced this year. He tried to assess its strengths and weaknesses and decide how best to adjust the system to make it even better for next year's students and faculty.

He also worked toward developing the new stadium at the fairgrounds into the RHS sports program. Because of a lack of adequate facilities on our own campus, Dr. Nees felt that this was the best course of action. It would avoid the expense of keeping our dilapidated grandstands and would also be an added use of the new grandstands.

Our Shop Theatre was closed for public performances since December 1976, and Dr. Nees has been actively attempting to get it reopened. He felt that this affected a number of the student body, and they deserved a place to present their performances.

Perhaps the greatest of his concerns was centered around an extensive campus study. That study was begun to determine which buildings were sound and which were not. From there a decision would be made as to whether the present campus should be remodeled or the school relocated.

Dr. Nees felt that this had been a very interesting year and one of his best years since he came to RHS. He enjoyed the year and was proud of the senior class and the leadership and examples they set.

Mr. Ricketts and Mr. Loomis share

Mr. Allen Ricketts and Mr. Fred Loomis divided the duties of assistant principal between themselves. Mr. Ricketts is the assistant principal in charge of curriculum, and Mr. Loomis is the assistant principal in charge of student affairs. Working together, Mr. Ricketts and Mr. Loomis have done great jobs.

Mr. Ricketts worked with curriculum, a big part of which was the administering of minimum competencies for graduation. Further he spent a large portion of his time observing the teachers and making written evaluations of each one. He was also responsible for assisting in interviewing new teacher applicants.

Mr. Loomis was concerned with such challenging areas as student attendance, smoking and parking. It was a deep concern of Mr. Loomis' to be as fair as possible in dealing with these situations.

Deans Innovate

Now over here are our Deans. Mrs. Phyllis Fread, Girls' Dean and Mr. Bill Welch, Boys' Dean. These are the people who are responsible for counseling the seniors, seeing that registration goes smoothly and setting the new guide-guidee program in motion. All these tasks keep our Deans pretty busy, but somehow they manage to find time in their schedules for other things as well. Mrs. Fread is very involved with Girls' League as the advisor and Mr. Welch organizes all the college visitation days.

Counselors change with program

This is our counseling center staff. Those of us who were here last year will notice some changes. Ms. Linebaugh, who came from Oregon State University, is the new sophomore girls' counselor. Our sophomore boys' counselor, Mr. Ron Sturtz, also a new counselor, is not a new face at RHS. Mr. Sturtz has been a history teacher here for twelve years. Miss Judy Swartz moved up to the position of junior girls' counselor this year. Mr. Thurman Bell, the only counselor who has not changed jobs, is still our junior boys' counselor.

The new guide-guidee program instituted this year gives each student a teacher to seek help from and allows the counselors more time to deal with the larger student problems and perfecting the systems of registration. Even with its "bugs", the counselors think the new program has potential.

Our counselors are also involved in other school activities. Ms. Linebaugh is a member of the Faculty Advisory Council and Mr. Sturtz is the faculty advisor for the leadership class and student government.

Eight secretaries keep RHS going

RHS could not have survived without its tribe of secretaries. There were office managers, attendance secretaries, bookkeepers and many more. They worked together to keep things at RHS running smoothly.

Mrs. Margie Medford was the office manager. She supervised all the clerical staff and served as secretary to Dr. Nees.

Next was Mrs. JoAnne Parkhill, who was secretary to Mr. Allen Ricketts, our assistant principal. Along with her other duties, she was in charge of getting substitute teachers.

We also had a very competent book manager, Mrs. Linda Schroeder. It was her responsibility to order books and other supplies.

Our attendance secretary, Mrs. Yvonne Long, posted absence slips, mailed letters, and answered the phone. Making quarterly and yearly attendance reports to state officials was another of her many duties. Working with her was Ms. Edna Scott, who also took care of processing information for the IED.

Miss Joyce McKnight was our business manager for most of the year. It was her responsibility to keep all the accounts straight.

And last but assuredly not least was Mrs. Maxine Carl, our library clerk. She also served as an AV aide to the entire campus.

Custodian turns into fireman

There is a group of people seldom recognized at their full worth — the custodial staff. Some of their jobs are to sweep the floors, clean the restrooms, and erase the chalkboards. They also work hard to keep the lawns and flowers mowed and watered — even to put out a fire that starts near a school building. It is because of their dedicated work that the buildings and classrooms are comfortable and the RHS campus stays clean and beautiful.

Actors write own plays

Carrying on tradition, Drama II students once again played the role of playwright.

Through the month of February, the Drama II classes performed for Elementary students, using a script written specifically by each class.

Among some of the plays performed were "When Our Hearts Were Young and Gay," "Butterflies are Free," "Thursday," "Arsenic and Old Lace," "Mrs. Belfoire," and a humorous play entitled, "Jack Gets the Elevator Shaft." This skit was performed and written by Tammy Ashton, Greg Johnson, Linda Bunker, Kerry Bauer, Cindy Parsons, and Mike Oilar.

Speakers flock to podium

The Speech Department was a popular target for eager students wanting to conquer one of the biggest fears in life . . . speaking in front of other people.

Argumentation, Speech and Listening, Oral Interpretation, and Forensics all had many participants and likely prospects to add to next year's young speech team.

Mrs. Sturtz's Forensics team included Dave Ridenour, Mike Oilar, Diana Lopez, Todd Boyd, Scott Walton, Mardy Clark, Eric Peterson, and Lisa Gunther.

German classes dine in Eugene

For hundreds of RHS students, 1978 was the year to venture beyond the boundaries of this country and learn the mysterious syllables of another country's language.

Unfortunately, a planned trip this summer to Europe had not been scheduled. The last trip to Europe was in 1976, when the German Club explored the culture of that country.

There were trips for the various language classes, however. Both the Spanish and the French classes went to Portland, and the German classes went to a German restaurant in downtown Eugene.

One of the first things that took place in a language class was the re-naming of all the students, all of the names, of course, native to that country which one was studying. Some of the names used were Udo (Rick) Wright, Raúl (Mark) Masenhimer, and Angelique (Debbie) Sykes.

Pupils have fun in snow and sand

Trips to Diamond Lake in February and to the coast in May highlighted the year for Mr. John Moore, Mrs. Oberf-oell, and all the students of the TMR program.

Many of the TMR students centered their interests around daily projects. In addition to helping Mr. Moore in painting their entire classroom, they were involved in sewing, woodworking, and keychain making.

According to Mr. Moore, their goal will be reached when the students show that they can live independently within any community.

Other programs included Vocational Training (taught by Ms. Clara Young and Mr. Mick Hunt) and the new Adjustive Education (taught by Mrs. Pat Arneson).

Computer class draws crowd

Computer Programming was the Math department's biggest surprise. Last year was the first time it was available as a class, but this year the class was near capacity.

According to Department head Mr. Duane Hatter, this year's class had seven more students then last year's.

In Computer Programming, many games were thought of and then plugged into the computer. Among these activities were "Wampus" (a mathematical game), "Sector" (a submarine battle game), and Backgammon. Junior Steve Dillman even thought of a way to play "Black Jack" on the computer!

Basketball and volleyball rate #1

This year in Physical Education, the selection of courses to take was again very good.

For the boys, a survey showed that basketball was the preferred activity. For the girls, volleyball rated highest.

This year, jogging was added to the roster of activities. Other well-liked choices were ping pong, football, soccer, gymnastics, field hockey, and tennis. The activity most liked by both the boys' and girls' classes combined was badminton.

New on the PE staff is Miss Sue Ann Stremfel, who replaced Miss Leslie Brown.

Emphasis put on individual work

One of the projects completed by Mrs. Howlett's Interior Design classes was the wallpapering of Mr. Loomis's office.

In Home Economics, students worked in groups, but for the final product, the emphasis was on individual effort. Regarding this claim, Mrs. Howlett said, "The students have to be more independent and self reliant."

As last year, many boys enrolled in the Home Economics classes. According to Mrs. Howlett, there were approximately the same number of boys this year taking Home Economics.

Mahcook student store profits

In his second year as Marketing advisor, Mr. Wayne Anderson definately put something together.

This year, the merchandise in the store increased dramatically. There were commodities ranging from deodorant to record albums. Unfortunately, crime in the form of stolen merchandise also increased.

According to Marketing student Bob Coen, he felt that his business class was his biggest learning class. "Being in a Business course helps you plan for your future. You learn how to make things like resumes and I can even use my experience in Mahcook as a resource in getting a job at another store," said Coen.

Jazz hits first at Pleasant Hill

"The Organization," Roseburg's Vocal Jazz Ensemble group, placed slightly ahead of South Salem's "Southernaires" and took first place in a vocal contest at Pleasant Hill on April first.

Other contests included one sponsored by the Optimists Club in Salem on November 12 at Willamette University, a festival in Bend on February 19, and an "All-Northwestern" contest, May 20, at Mt. Hood Community College.

On April 6, members of Girls' Glee attended a workshop at the University of Oregon.

A-Cappella once again gave a tremendous performance at the '78 graduation ceremonies.

Dropped from the curriculum this year was the Girls' Swing Choir. It was replaced by a guitar class, which was taught by Mr. David Pool.

History installs new King

A touch of the South was a little more than history for some students of Social Science.

Among three new Social Science teachers this year was Mr. Milt King. Fresh out of Oklahoma, Mr. King took the place of Mr. Brian Carter. In his Great Issues classes, Mr. King's down-home accent blended nicely with the Civil War, U.S. Grant, The Autobiography of Miss Jane Pittman, and the slavery issue.

Tales of wild tigers and huge elephants abounded in the Science Department this year.

All the commotion was about a new teacher by the name of Mr. McBee, who had spent the seven previous years in the heart of Africa. Mr. McBee, replacing Mr. Richard Anderson, taught Life Science and Biology.

Other events in the Science Department included a few trips by the Biology Club and the Botany classes. In October, Mr. Findley's classes explored the damp regions of Fall Creek. Also Mr. Smith's Oceanography class took their annual trip to the coast.

Creative pupils brighten up school campus

Skills, terms, and techniques were emphasized in the Art Department.

Some of these methods of teaching paid off, at least for Junior Chris Edwards, who was picked to participate in the 1978 High School Art Show.

Enrollment in the Art classes was more practical than last year's classes according to Art teacher Mrs. Fey.

Student enrollment was filled in by the more serious student. "This year there were not as many slough students," said Mrs. Fey.

Many projects were displayed throughout the campus. Murals were printed on the wall of the Language Arts building, where there was a complete map guiding visitors around the RHS campus.

Masonite panels were also displayed, one of which was a painting depicting a battle from the movie "Star Wars." In the hallway of the Humanities building there was a black and white abstract mural mounted on the wall. Various drawings from the Commercial Arts classes were also pinned up in the showcase in the entryway to the Main.

Juniors ask what is a Thanatopsis

This year English has its own department in the yearbook .

Last year, English was mixed in with TMH, Drama, Speech and Vocational Training.

Although the section has changed, the education hasn't. It is still a school requirement to have three credits of English for Graduation.

To make sure they get their English credits, students are not reluctant to sign up for an English credit course.

In January, Mr. Bodeen's II CP English classes were required to read a poem most of them could not even pronounce. The poem, called "Thanatopsis," was written by William Cullen Bryant when he was only seventeen-years old. Part of the assignment was to memorize the last nine lines of "Thanatopsis." Knowing that "Thanatopsis" meant a meditation of death, the students were glad to live through that one.

This year there were two additions to the English Department. Mr. Koch, (pronounced Cook), replaced Mr. Bouwsema as Orange R and Journalism advisor, and Mr. Nalley took Mr. Burton's place in the Vo-Tech when Mr. Burton moved to Oregon City. Mr. Bouwsema is now teaching at South Eugene High School.

Major Austin Leads Mission

The OSI lost its #1 mission man to RHS as senior Bruce Austin took command as Marching Band's drum major.

Austin was selected Drum Major through an audition and a vote by the band instructors.

Major Austin was accompanied on their weekly missions to please halftime crowds by two beautiful twirlers, Melissa Coleman and Tony Merk.

The major event of the year came in mid-April when the members of Symphonic Band and four chaperones went on a week-long band tour to San Francisco. The trip included a day at Merriott's Great America amusement park. They used charter busses for transportation.

Concerts were on-tap every night for the band, culminating in a large festival on April 21.

Mark Aldrich, Janet Berlier, Dave Spackman, and Cindy Murray qualified for the State Solo Ensemble contest held at SOSC in Ashland, April 29.

Out of five female solo singers from Roseburg, alto Kelly Godfrey emerged victorious as the only RHS representative to the state contest in Ashland.

Construction project is substituted

Construction II class did not build a house for their main project, but built a garage instead.

Last year's Construction III structure had a hard time getting sold, so this year a garage was built in the Newton Creek area. It was constructed near the beginning of the first semester.

As in all Vocational classes, a certain amount of safety is required to be taught. Unfortunately, tragedy struck in early November when Junior Allan Sorensen severed two of his fingers on a table saw in the Vo-Tech shop.

There were two new additions to the Vocational Department, Mr. Kellar, taking part of the Woods classes, and Mr. Pommé in the Electronics section.

Students go from CPR to marriage

Being required courses to graduate, Health and Finance classes naturally attracted many Sophomores and Seniors.

For Sophomores, the material studied ranged from Cardio Pulmonary Resuscitation (CPR) to filling out 10-40-A income tax-return forms.

For the Seniors, the matters were a little more serious. In only one semester, every Senior managed to get married, figure a budget to live by, and then get divorced.

There were two major changes in the Health and Finance Department. Mr. Ruhl switched from the Sophomore level to teaching Senior Health. Mrs. Wong replaced Mrs. Hjort, and Miss Stremfel taught three Health classes.

"Olga" Joins OR Newspaper Staff

A trip to Eugene highlighted the year for the Journalism classes.

The staffs of both the Orange R and the Umpqua attended the annual Oregon Scholastic Press Conference on the campus of the University of Oregon. The conference was on October 21, 1977, and included 45 minute discussion classes such as: "Better pictures for your new spaper," "Click! (yearbook photography)," "Covering sports in the yearbook," and "Step-by-step guide to selecting and writing editorials." Special guest speaker at the conference was U of O professor of Journalism, Dr. Jack Hart.

Russ Powell replaced Mark Matassa at the semester break as the Orange R editor, and became the first junior editor in quite some time. Jean Herbage, editor of this year's Umpqua, selected the theme, "Our School" for the '78 edition.

Added to the equipment used in producing the Orange R was a new headliner. The Orange R staffers named the machine "Olga," which sits side-by-side with "Ludwig," the Orange R typesetter.

Mr. Malcolm Koch replaced Ed Bouwsema as the advisor for the Orange R and 547 West literary magazine, and Mr. Don Bodsen completed his 23rd year as advisor of the Umpqua.

Indians reach Quarterfinals

Starting the season with three non-league wins and one loss, the Indians realized a terrific year that moved them high into the rankings.

Beaverton and Bend seemed as only practices to the Indians as they brought 27-13 and 20-8 wins. The third non-league game, which happened to be Sunset (ranked no. 1 in the state) looked like there was a kind of slur in the team's power, but not so as they continued to win! The fourth non-league game, against California's Del Norte, was a shutout of 24-0 and more practice as the Indians prepared for the next five games in league play.

Next was the long, hard path for the Indians to tromp right through to get to State. This path was not all cut and dried as the warriors found out, but they still kept their spirits up. The first league game was against Crater at their place. This game might have been more accurately called a track meet as both teams sprinted up and down the field for a long four quarters. The Indians came out with a league opener crush over Crater and a season's high point total of 48 points against 6.

The next league game and the first of three to take place on Findlay Field, the Indians faced the Black Tornadoes of Medford. Many would rather black out this night too, as the crowd on the Medford side was at least twice the size of RHS's, supporting their winning team. The final score was 6-49.

Revenge was just what the Indians wanted as they came back, again on Findlay Field, to pluck those Klamath Falls Pelicans 28-7.

State was getting closer as the Indians faced Grants Pass and Ashland as the last two teams to play in the league for play-offs. The offense and defense packed in hard again to win both of them, 14-7 and 38-28, which earned them a berth in the State AAA play-offs. Only once this season in nine outings were the Indians held to fewer than 10 points.

Finally, the Indians were there, the place they had waited for all season — State play-offs — and two tough teams to play.

The first, Lakeridge, looked good, but not good enough. Again the Indians won. It was difficult, but they lowered Lakeridge down to no. 10, by a 20-16 victory.

The last game to be played was Roseburg Indians versus the Sunset Appollos. It was a hard, long game, aggravating, but hope was in the air. This seemed to be the low point of the whole season, losing to Sunset with a score of 16-14. Then it was over. It seemed like a low point to the Indians, but they ended up sixth in State.

JV's tally merely one loss

Quarterback Neil Fuller brought success to the JV football team this year. But he had lots of help from the good defense and offense which put the team to a 5-1 season record. The year started out with an excellent shutout of 25-0 again at Springfield. The only loss was to Medford, who took over in the third quarter — the score was 12-45. Some other outstanding players were Scott Hughes and Barry Mote — Defense, Tony Helliwell and Mark Goodwin — Defensive end, and John Bussell — Linebacker.

Sophomores match 1970 record

This year the sophomore football team had its most successful season since they achieved the same 7-1 record in 1970 (the one loss to Medford). All the coaches were pleased with the hard work and progress that the sophs made.

Both the offense and the defense had their high points, with the defense having several outstanding games, such as their shutout at Grants Pass. Also, the football team had its biggest turnout in years of over 50 players.

Boys earn district championship

Being district champions the fourth time in five years, the boys' cross-country team purchased a spot at state, which brought them a ninth place. Their season record was 10 and 0.

The girls' varsity 7-3 season's record took them to district, where they achieved a well earned third place, and sent Joan Herbage to State.

Both JV teams worked hard this year, which also brought a third place along with their 8-win, 2-loss season's record. Outstanding runners were Mark Worden and Joan Herbage.

Injuries nearly stopped members of the gymnastics team this year, but the team did very well and sent Tami Forrest to state. Girls' volleyball goes to state

The combination of a new coach, a 6-0 offense, and eight seniors out to achieve a goal made this year a very special one that will always be remembered for the volleyball team.

This year's team was the first ever to go to state competition, which was the result of eight seniors' goal set the first day of practice. Besides going to state, the girls were co-champions in the league.

Another highlight for the team this year was the Corvallis Invitational, where they beat St. Marys, the state champs for the last two years. The awards presented were as follows: Most Outstanding, Kelly Jones; Most Improved, Diane Davidson; and Most Inspirational, Pam Sullivan. High scorers were Kelly Jones, Pam Sullivan, Sherry Buck, and Bronwyn Keeney.

Boys' tankers swim to the first district championship

For the first time in the history of the RHS swim team, the boys were district champions with a 9-0 season record. The girls showed progress with a 4-6 record and a fourth place at District. Thirteen swimmers and divers qualified for state, where sixteen school records were set.

This year's members of the swim team worked very hard and accomplished many individual goals. As evidence of attaining goals, awards were presented to Jeff Down and Sharon Spencer for most outstanding, and Mark Zimmerman received the Most Inspirational award at the annual swim team banquet.

Spike Moore wins district

When Spike Moore was asked to leave his post as head basketball coach this year, he left behind him nine years of excellent varsity and junior varsity teams, especially the 1977-78 team of Indians which was first in district and rated third at state. His position as basketball coach was not renewed because he was charged with breaking rules.

The team's only loss in the league was a squeaker to Medford. The Indians weren't stopped by any means, as they came back victoriously over Grants Pass the same weekend and went on to finish the season with a 17-1 record for the district championship. Awards were presented to Hans Rasmussen, most valuable; Brett Agost, most improved; Scott Ballard and Ken Pardon, most inspirational.

Girls bounce to 10-0 record

The girls' varsity basketball team looked very impressive as they achieved a 10-0 league record. At the beginning of the season, the girls faced some strong non-league teams such as South Eugene, UCC, Myrtle Point, and Coquille. Those games taught the girls some lessons and prepared them for their ten straight wins. At state, every girl learned some pointers and was also disappointed, as they were defeated. High scorer of the season was Lisa Endicott with 169 points, and high rebounder, Lisa Randolph, with 149 rebounds.

Boys Earn 3rd Place in League

With an 11-9 league record and a 16-12 season record, the boys' varsity baseball team earned a 3rd place in the league.

The Junior Varsity team ended the season with a 12-6-1 record.

One strong person in the varsity team this year was Greg Keeler, who led in homeruns for the team and also played on the J.V. team. Dave Drews was an outstanding pitcher with 32 strike-outs for the season. Steve Johnson had the best batting average (.454).

Three to State

Chris Maks and Jean Herbage, district double champs, and Katie Beal, strong in singles, enabled the girls' tennis team to head to state this year. At state, they earned five points and tied for seventh with Bend, out of 37 schools competing. The team was also third in district with a 10-win, 3-loss and 2-tie season record.

At the spring tennis banquet at Chin's, awards were presented to Chris Maks, most outstanding; Shari Bineham and Janet Horn, most improved; and Katie Beal, most inspirational.

Herriotts Win Consolation

The tennis team won the District Championship for the second year in a row, and Ron and Don Herriott won the doubles consolation bracket at State. This year there were more entrants in the state tournament from Roseburg than from any other team. The team had a 15-win, 0-loss season record. Girls Earn 5th

Under a new track coach this year, Milt King, the Roseburg girls improved, as a group and individually, by placing 5th (only two points away from a 4th place) — at district, and sending two girls, Joan Herbage and Diane Davidson, to state. Voted for by other team members, Brenda Jackson received the Most Improved award, while Sharon Spencer received the Most Inspirational. Joan Herbage and Diane Davidson were Most Outstanding. Boys Go for 3rd

With a badly needed win to capture third place at state, Chester Pepple sped around the corner, the last leg in the 1600 meter relay, saw a chance to pass his only threatening opponent 10 yards away, decided to go for it, and made it to complete a team effort. That spurt climaxed a very good season, which had a lot of hard work put into it. The JV's won all of their meets also. STAGE MANAGER. Being Club Editor made Mark Matassa aware of the wide variety of clubs available for any kind of student in our school.

IRL-MUN Works At Mock Nations

Tanzania and Thailand were the countries represented this year by the Roseburg Chapter of the International Relations League. The club took part in Mock United Nations Conventions throughout the year.

Delegates in the Mock United Nations Conventions follow the same rules and procedures as the real United Nations and vote for resolutions according to how their represented countries would most likely vote.

Although many small conventions were held throughout the year, the biggest was a three-day state convention held in April at University of Oregon. That meeting involved twenty-five high schools.

Students involved in the club learned about world problems, the art of diplomacy, and specific problems incurred by their represented country, according to club president Pam Kline.

Advisor for the ten-member group was Peter Johnson.

NHS debates entrance requirements

Members of National Honor Society kept busy planning inductions and other activities and enjoyed an active, rewarding year.

Because of a ruling by the fire marshall, the inductees were not able to hold candles in the ceremony for the first time in the history of NHS. After fulfilling the requirements for service, leadership, character, and scholarship, the juniors and seniors were admitted into the ranks of NHS and were welcomed by Dr. Nees, principal.

Speeches were made by Kelly Godfrey (history), Mark Matassa (service), Jean Herbage (leadership), Cathy Rinio (character), and Donna Jackson (scholarship), . . . to make the meaning of NHS clear to the inductees and their parents. Members of the Jazz Improvisation Lab provided the entertainment.

In addition to the inductions, NHS was involved in community service activities. At Christmas, some went caroling in the rain, but everybody helped put together two generous food baskets for needy families. For St. Valentine's Day, NHS made cards for residents of nursing homes and cookies for children in Douglas County's shelter home. During the basketball season, NHS sold programs at the games.

Less formal NHS activities included a Halloween party and a picnic at the conclusion of the year. Regular meetings were held on the first Monday of every month and usually included activity planning and some sort of entertainment. In February, a debate was held to discuss the pros and cons of raising the GPA required for membership in NHS. Two seniors members received $75 scholarships from National Honor Society.

Mrs. Sheila Williams, Miss Kathy Jackson, and Mrs. Mildred Miller served as the club's advisors.

Varsity rally takes first

Varsity Rally is composed of several very dedicated girls who arouse spirit in the student body. In the summer of 1977, Rally traveled to rally camp at Northstar in Lake Tahoe, where their original routine earned them first place. They were also awarded a spirit stick and individual ribbons.

Rally performed skits for the football team at practices on Sunday nights, when they also brought the players many different kinds of food.

During football and basketball seasons, the girls painted signs every Thursday night for the coming games. In addition they performed yells and routines at games to get the student body more involved. They organized the pep assemblies and decorated for the football and basketball banquets.

Rally Squad held several fund-raising activities to earn money to pay for uniforms.

Varsity Rally was advised by Mrs. Carolyn Lucia.

German Club Attends Dinner

Advised by Herr Strong, the German Club joined in Homecoming activities by decorating store windows downtown and entering a float in the noise parade. Orange and black pompons were also sold at the Homecoming game to promote school spirit.

Members held many fund-raising activities, including car washes, corn dog sales, bottle drives, and the selling of orange and black garters at the Turkey Twirp Dance in November.

Using the funds, 30 members were able to attend the annual German dinner at the Alpine Village Inn in Eugene on April 25.

Providing community service by distributing a Thanksgiving basket to a local family was a first for the German Club. During Christmas, the club caroled with the French and Spanish Club members.

Dining on Sauerbraten and Rot Kohl, members made their way to different homes for a progressive dinner held on Dec. 13. Bonnie Dryden was president of the group.

French Club enjoys concert

Members of the French Club spent the 1977-1978 school year becoming better acquainted with French culture. French Club traveled to Portland, where they attended a concert of Folk Music by a French-Canadian group from Quebec. Singing in French, they went Christmas caroling in December. The club sold donuts and hot apple cider in Downtown Roseburg during the Christmas shopping season to help finance another French cultural trip. Paula Gorton guided the club.

Candy Stripers Volunteer Time

Candy Stripers consisted of girls who volunteered to work one night per week at local hospitals.

Members met on the third Monday of each month. They held parties at Christmas time, when members exchanged gifts, and after the training session for the girls in their first year of candy striping.

During the months of February and March, they sold chocolate bars to raise money for a field trip to the Crippled Children Center in Portland in April. In May, Candy Stripers attended an awards banquet at Mercy Hospital and a dessert at Community Hospital.

They were led by Mrs. Dierling.

OHOSA "rocks"

A new club, HOSA, became active early in the year. Mrs. Dietrich, HOSA's advisor, had heard of the Oregon Health Occupation Students of America and introduced the idea to her health occupations classes. Since enough people showed an interest, the club got off to a swift start with a state convention in the fall.

HOSA sang Christmas carols and provided cookies for nursing homes in Roseburg. They sold corn dogs and candy apples to finance the other state convention held in the spring. HOSA also held a "rock-a-thon," where members received pledges for the amount of time they could rock in rocking chairs in a downtown store window.

RHS Thespians perform for junior high

Thespians and Drama Club members were active throughout the year with fund-raising activities, a trip to Ashland, rehearsals, two plays, and a talent show.

The club held a car wash, a bake sale, and a corn dog sale to raise money to travel to Ashland on March 4 to visit the Shakespearean Festival and see a play. They produced two plays for the school, for which they practiced many hours.

They performed Terror Walks Tonight for the two junior high schools in Roseburg. On January 31, Thespians and Drama Club produced a talent show which was well-attened by the student body. Club members judged the acts and rated them on a scale from one to ten.

Mr. Richard Lanier advised this club.

Forensics Group Wins Trophies

Twenty trophies were won by the Speech Club in tournament action throughout the year.

Dave Ridenour and Mike Oilar each claimed eight of the awards, many of them coming in debate, where they teamed up. Other trophy winners were Mark Matassa and Scott Walton.

After the state tournament, the group worked on the speakers extra — vaganza, a banquet with the members families. At the banquet, advisor Daphne Sturtz called the team "one of the best" and awarded president Ridenour the outstanding speaker of the group.

On May 27 the club took over radio station KYES to raise money for the following year's tournaments. They sold, wrote, and read on the air all of the day's advertisements.

DECA Successful At State Meet

Mark Laroque highlighted a year of activities in the local chapter of the Distributive Education Clubs of America (DECA), when he won first place overall in the Petroleum Event at state DECA competition in March.

The club began the year by attending an October leadership conference in Albany. Members attended different seminars given by state and national officers.

In November, DECA worked with the North Roseburg Plaza, modeling clothes from six different stores.

After the state competition, the club began working with Roseburg car dealers on a Home and Travel show. The show was held in April at the fairgrounds. DECA finished the year with a banquet at the fairgrounds.

AFS Sponsors Foreign Student

Roseburg's chapter of American Field Service, a branch of the International AFS organization, enabled Maria Novaes to travel from Brazil to spend the year here.

Although Maria was the only foreign exchange student who was sponsored by the organization, eleven students from other countries, in addition to local members, were members of the group.

Aside from normal meetings, the club held numerous private parties after school hours, including a final swim party on the weekend of graduation.

In addition to sponsoring the Turkey Twirp Dance, a tradition begun by AFS last year, the group put on the First Annual Mad Hatter Dance at St. Joseph's Church, where prices were reduced if a hat was worn.

One member called the year "more successful than previous ones." AFS was advised by Mrs. Clara Young.

Skiers journey to Bend, Oregon

Ski Club's prime goal, to make as many ski outings as possible, was realized with two trips. They sold pastries for the students during nutrition breaks to raise money for these trips. This club was more active than in the previous year, when they were able to make only one ski trip, and that was in the late winter. This year, they were able to make their first trip on January 20, when they took a lovely chartered bus to Bend on a three-day weekend.

Serving as advisor was Carolyn Lucia's job.

RHS Sundancers Exhibit Spirit

Sundancers felt that they surpassed the amount and quality of last year's performances through more careful organization. They became a better-known club at RHS through the wearing of different uniforms on days of games to exhibit their school spirit and through performing in many different events.

They danced to music provided by the bands at football and basketball games. Dance Team also displayed its skill at the talent show, the Father-Daughter Banquet, and at the Elks and Moose lodges.

Sundancers practiced during evenings and early mornings to perfect their performances. Fund-raising consisted of a wide variety of activities. They began last summer with selling snow cones during the Babe Ruth baseball tournament and participating in a dunking booth in the Douglas County Fair. They held the regular corndog and bake sales and car washes, and continued their tradition of selling spirit suckers on campus.

Sundancers were led by Miss Stremfel.

Girls' League bakes cookies for teachers

This year began early for some Girls' League members. At the end of August, several girls baked cookies to welcome the teachers to school. Soon after school started, a few members went to the State Girls' League Convention.

Since Girls' League consisted of all the female members of the Associated Student Body, a council made up of officers and other interested girls was used to plan meetings. In November, the council voted on the class representatives, who introduced the new girls in their classes at the meetings.

During homecoming week, girls sold mums, held the Mr. Irresistible election, and decorated a downtown merchant's window.

Girls' League sponsored the Father-Daughter Banquet in February and the Senior Mothers' Tea late in the year when the officers for the next year were installed.

Girls of the Months were chosen by characteristics such as leadership or dependability. At least one girl was introduced at each meeting. The marshall told funny stories about each one, and the young lady's mother was usually there to pin on her corsage.

At the end of the last meeting, all the seniors sang "Auld Lang Syne." The final event of the year was the Senior Girls' Breakfast held on Graduation Day.

Mrs. Phyllis Fread served as advisor.

Girls of the Months Chosen

Outstanding in a particular quality, the Girls of the Month are chosen after a great deal of thought and discussion.

First, the Girls' League Council decides what the trait for the month will be. Then the chosen trait is posted in the school bulletin, and Girls' League members nominate someone they think is outstanding in the area.

Finally, the Girls' League Council chooses a few girls from the dozens of nominations, and from these few a single girl is chosen by a randomly selected number from each class.

The girl whose name makes it through the selection procedures is awarded "Girl of the Month."

Girl of the Year, Cathy Rinio, was also named September's Girl of the Month for friendliness. She was Girls' League president, a member of Ski Club, Thespians Club, National Honor Society, Water Ski Club, and Varsity Rally Squad. She also was chosen to Who's Who Among American High School Students, and was voted Best All Around by the senior class.

Color Guard cultivates patriotism

JROTC Color Guard provided school and community with a top-rated guard of honor for the presentation of our national colors.

There were a Men's Color Guard, a Women's Color Guard, and Sophomore Color Guard. The groups presented the colors of the USA at football and basketball games and in parades.

Color Guard taught students and community respect for the flag.

Drill teams march towards excellence

JROTC Drill Teams spent their year performing for the public so that people would become more aware of the JROTC program.

Women's Drill Team had a reputation to live-up to. They spent many days after school to retain the third place rating in the Postal Drill Match received by the group before them.

Men's Drill Team, who drilled and performed with M1903 rifles, worked towards the Postal Competition in March and the formal inspection. They performed at various school activities and in parades.

Both Drill Teams were assisteed by MSG Gary Woodle.

JROTC Trains

Under the supervision of Don Wilson, Long Rifles, the JROTC rifle team, competed with other rifle teams to utilize and improve upon their skills in shooting.

Rifle Team practiced for and participated in five competitions in different areas of Oregon and held meetings in which members received information about practice times and matches. First-year shooters captured the trophies for the team. Randy Huss, captain of the Long Rifles, won first place, and Sandra Hemetz, Pam Pearce, and Matt Huss earned fourth, fifth, and sixth place trophies, respectively. The group members raised funds through different activities.

Honor Guard, also called the Eliters, was a club formed by those JROTC members wishing to extend their service to the school and the community. Members were trained in the principles of leadership, community service, public speaking, and school and community relations. Eliters were conditioned to plan and carry through with a project or commitment and to adjust.

Eliters learned and practiced responsibility under the guidance of three JROTC instructors, Gary Woodle, Don Wilson, and Kenneth McFall.

GAA boasts the loudest float

GAA was a large club because there were many girls interested in participating in athletics.

Among its ranks were basketball and volleyball players, swimmers, gymnasts, and track and field enthusiasts. These were the players, not the spectators. To be in the Girls' Athletic Association, a girl had to participate in at least one sport, but many are active in sports all year around.

GAA had one of the loudest and largest floats in the Homecoming Parade. Members provided a needy family with a food basket for Thanksgiving. In December, GAA staged an overnight party, when they went Christmas caroling.

GAA advisors were Mrs. Sanders and Miss Stremfel.

STAGE MANAGER. It was a feeling of great accomplishment for Classes Editor Melissa Coleman to know she was responsible for the pictures of all 1643 students in Our School.

Class of '78 Proves Outstanding

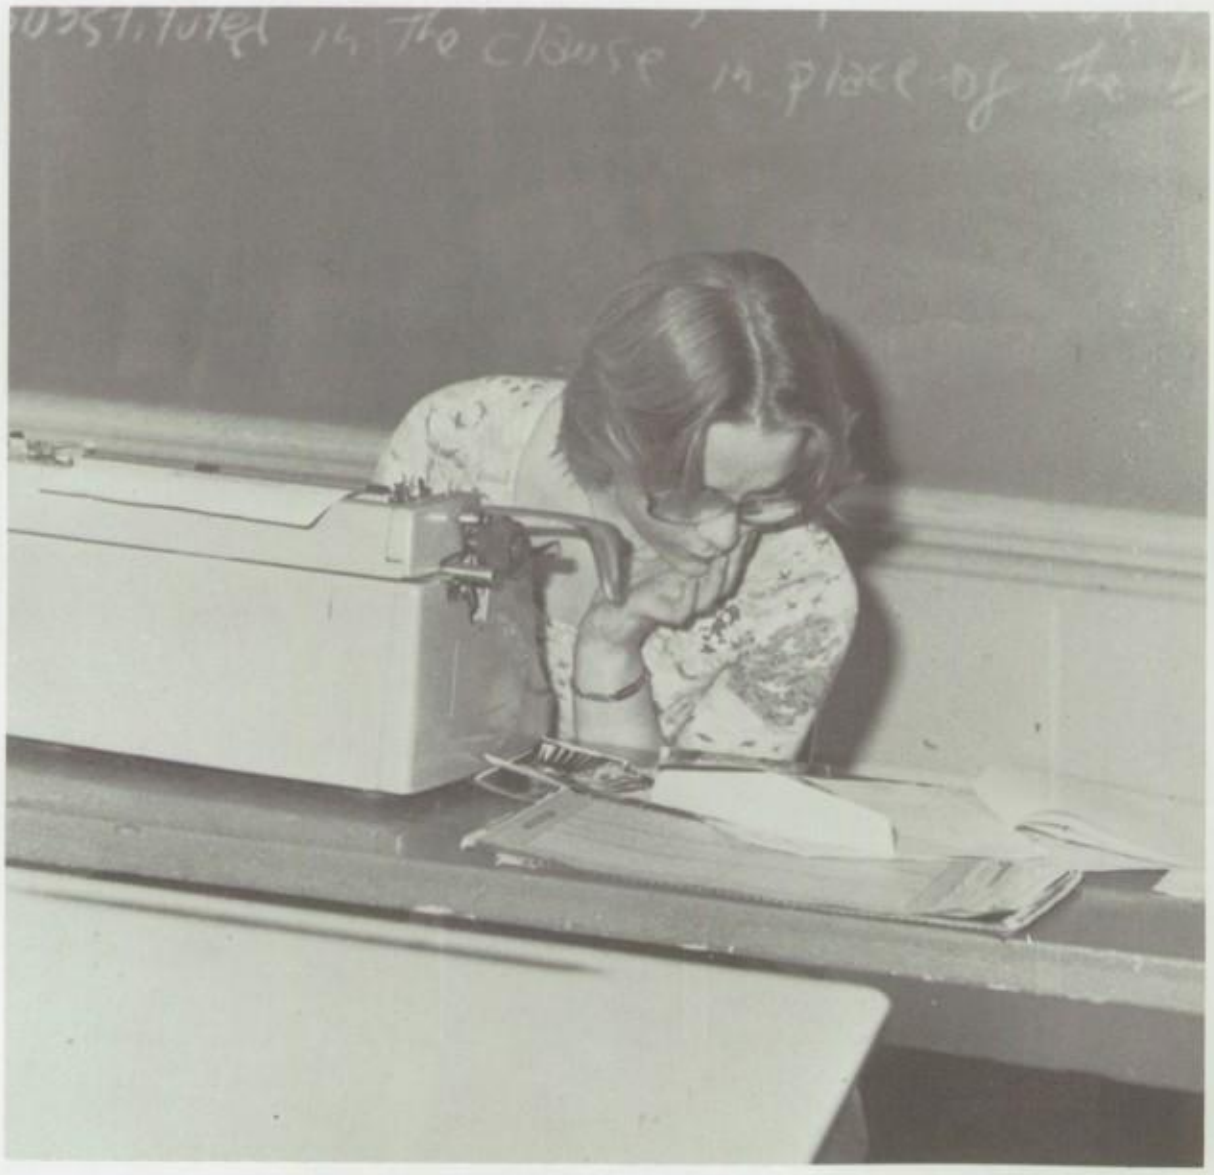
Strong leadership and the ability to use it proved rewarding to the class of 1978 by resulting in outstanding achievements in academics, athletics, and club organization.

Scholastically, twenty-three seniors graduated as Oregon Scholars and seventy-six as National Honor Society members. Heading the class at graduation scholastically were valedictorians Kelly Godfrey, Donna Jackson, Mark Matassa and Salutatorian Holly Dillman.

Athletically the senior class produced winning teams as well as tremendous individual achievements. Sharon Spencer, Kappie Nees, Michelle Randolph, and Cathy Summerlin were honored three-sport Seniors.

Unity of the class was justly shown at the Senior Banquet with laughter and hugs throughout the dinner and the presentation of the Best and Most Awards. A first for RHS was the dignity brought to the occasion with semi-formal attire being requested. A dance was provided after the banquet for the Seniors' enjoyment.

Proud parents packed the RHS grandstands as the 496 seniors went through a hot but happy graduation ceremony with the theme: "That which we had was good, but our hope will be a wakening dream."



Valedictorian Kelly Godfrey is puzzled about the group picture of Varsity Rally for her page.

Voted Best-All-Around, Mark Kelley warms up for the intermediate hurdles.

Senior class officers include Mark Galusha, senator; Dave Sexton, senator; Mike Gosline, treasurer; Dale Burks, senator; Paul Nevue, vice pres.; and Kathy McCurdy, president.

Wendy Aldrich and Kerren Schmeichel roar with laughter at the German Club Crazy Day.

Juniors Excel

Recognized as the middlemen, the junior class proved their abilities and leadership, imitating their predecessors by excelling in all phases of campus life.

The Juniors demonstrated their desire to use their energy and work hard to earn more than $1500 by operating concessions during the football season. The money they earned was saved and used for the expenses of the Junior-Senior Prom.

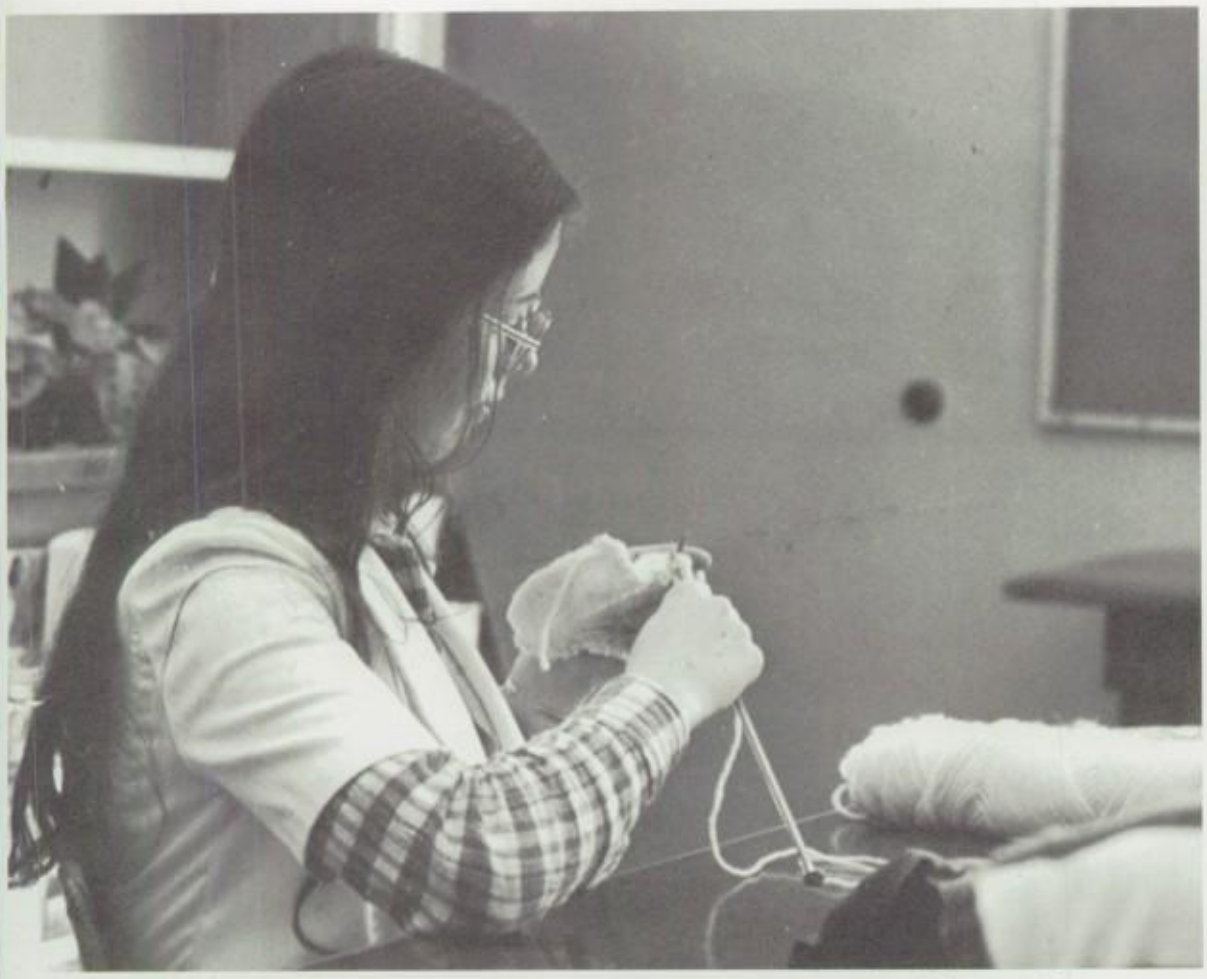
Proving the Class of 1979's scholastic achievement, 63 Juniors were inducted into the National Honor Society by maintaining a grade point average of no less than 3.5.

Athletically the Junior class maintained their success. The J.V.'s basketball team went undefeated for the first time ever, and in football the J.V.'s tallied only one loss. In gymnastics Tami Forrest qualified for State competition. From the students' talent and drive the juniors had a victorious athletic year.

"Island Paradise" highlighted the ending of the year as the theme of the Junior-Senior Prom, held at the Fairgrounds Community Building. Presiding over the gala event was Prom Queen Betsy Hughes with her escort Jaime Yraguen. Students attending the catered affair danced to the music of Just Us.

J.V. Rally members include Beth Courtney, Raelyn Palmer, Debbie Westley — Queen, Sandy Wilhoft, and Betsy Hughes (front).

Assistant Editor for the Umpqua, Eric Worden prepares his layouts on the choir pages.



Concentrating on her knitting, Tina Colcleasor starts on her nine weeks stitchery project.

Betsy Hughes receives her necklace and flowers from the 1977 Prom Queen.

Sophomores display attributes

Unity and participation became the two key words when referring to the success of the Class of '80. Despite the traditional hissing the underclassmen received at assemblies, there was pride revealed in their spirit, leadership, and athletic qualities.

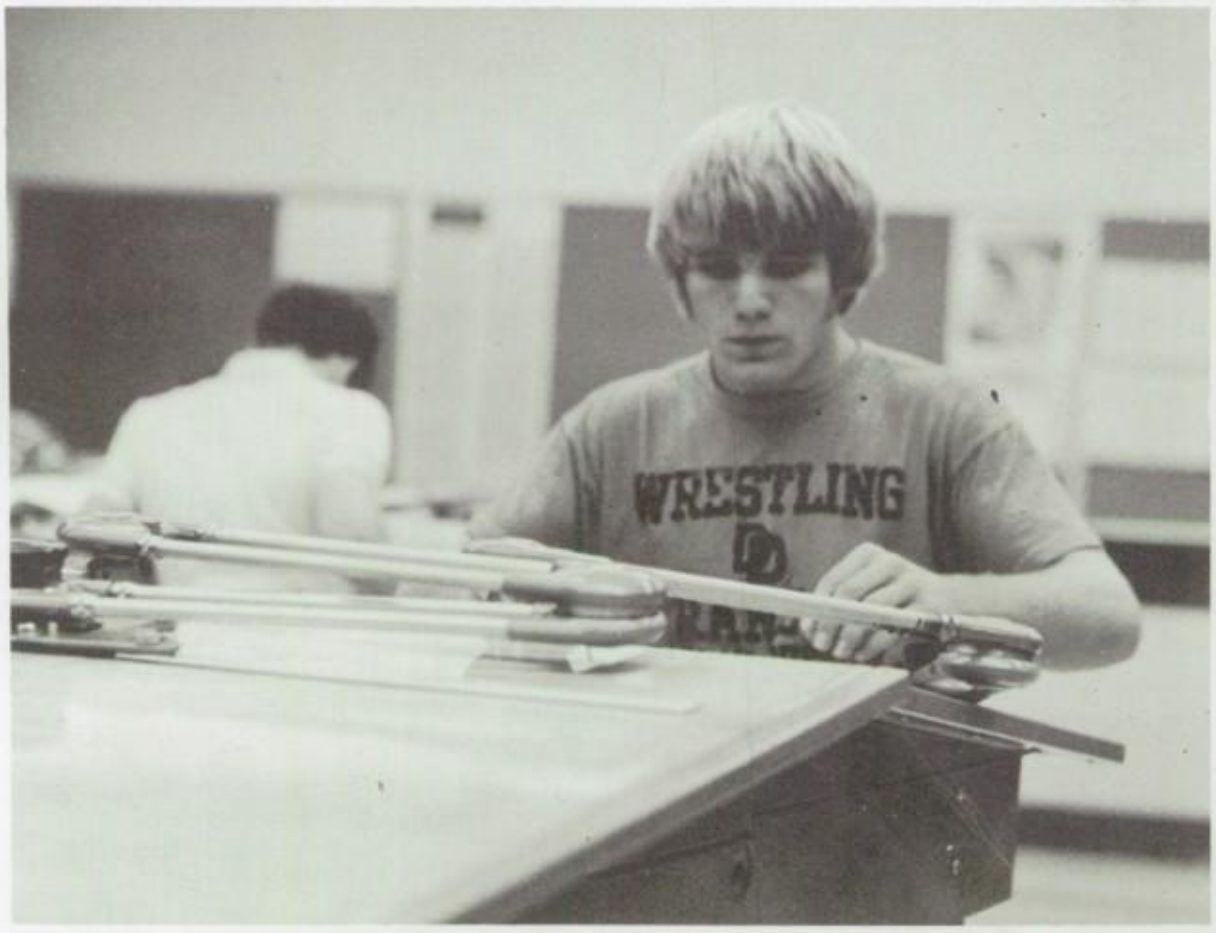
These sophomores were discovered in all academic areas on the RHS campus. They participated throughout the music department in both band and choir. Their talent was found in the drama, arts, home economics, and vocational divisions.

Adjusting to the high school life with apparent ease, the class of 1980 showed great potential for their upcoming years. Incoming sophomores began immediately raising money for their funds, through weekend corn dog sales and the selling of concessions at Varsity basketball games. The class also took on the responsibilities of cleaning up after school dances.

Late fall brought about the traditional National Education Development Tests for the sophomores. These tests gave the students an idea of their national standings in math, English, social studies and science.

Sophomore football season proved to be a record breaker for the class. An outstanding turn-out provided the team with over fifty potential players, leading them to a 7-1 victorious season.

Over all, 1978 proved to be a year in which the sophomores learned and matured into dependable, strong individuals. Uniting their individual efforts gave the class determination and great potential for being leaders throughout their high school years — good years to practice self government.



Bob Miller concentrates on double checking his accuracy by remeasuring his sketches in the mechanical drawing class. A number of expensive devices and equipment aid in the students' drawing.

1980 Olympic hopeful, Tami Forrest, practices a balance beam routine for an upcoming meet.

Sophomore Class Officers include Marcel Johnson, Vice-President; Lisa Matassa, Senator; Scott Laroque, Senator; Kathy Raford, Senator; Debbie McCurdy, Secretary; and Debbie Sykes, Treasurer. Excellent leadership was provided by these students.

Guide-Guidee plan launched

School year '78 began with the introduction of the Guide-Guidee program to the students and faculty. Both had problems in the launching of the program. The administration thought that it would involve the students, teachers, and parents and eliminate some administration participation with student problems.

Most of the students got caught up with competencies, absences, and credits and were in a state of confusion after the first two visits to their guide; the guides felt the same way.

Homecoming week went well, with most of the students participating in the many Homecoming activities. "Yesterday Once More" was the Class of '78's theme for the dance.

Winter came with apprehension of cold weather, snow, and skiing. It snowed enough to close school for a day, and many students took up that opportunity to learn to ski.

With much excitement of the coming of spring, students had an "on again, off again" season. This feeling meant the weather was generally good during Spring Vacation, but as soon as it was over, so was the good weather.

Two crowned in homecoming week

It took awhile to get going, but this year's Homecoming was one of RHS's most memorable. With events such as the Tuesday Night Rally, Noise Parade, Crowning of the Homecoming Queen, and Mr. Irresistible, the Homecoming week was a busy one.

At the Tuesday Night Rally on October 11, there were many comedy skits performed as well as the 15 semi-finalists for Homecoming court announced. Out of the 15 who were chosen, Melissa Coleman, Jackie Green, Jean Herbage, Nell Hingley, Kelly Jones, Susan Nuckolls and Debbie Pepple made up the court.

The court was announced on October 14 after the Noise parade had proceeded from RHS through the streets of Roseburg to the Court House.

Steve Chytka, John Forney, Per Isrealson, Mark Kelley, and Jeff Whitten were all presented with a single rose while Dave Skoglund received the crown of Mr. Irresistible.

That night at the half-time of the Roseburg-Ashland game, a beaming Melissa Coleman was crowned Homecoming Queen of 1977-1978. The Indians also came away beaming with a 38-28 win over Ashland.

Students take trip to Paris

How could two RHS students afford to go to Paris during the middle of fall and not miss one of their classes a single day? It would have been easy if you had been one of the students in the all-school play. On the nights of November 18 and 19 the RHS drama department put on the play "Our Hearts Were Young And Gay," at the UCC Campus Center.

"Our Hearts Were Young And Gay" is a comedy play about two young girls who take a cruise ship to Paris so that one of the girls, Cornelia, can be "discovered" as an actress. The story tells of the misadventures that Emily and Cornelia get into while Cornelia tries to find her way to stardom.

Several RHS couples unite

It was a chilly November evening when several RHS couples united in wedlock without their parents' permission. It was all done as a practical joke, though, as a couple of Optimist Club members performed the ceremonies at the Community Building at the Fairgrounds.

Attire was somewhat casual as it seems everyone either wore jeans, overalls, or some outrageous getups.

Appearing on the night of the Turkey Twirp Dance was Eclipse, a Portland area group. Most of the feedback on the band was very favorable from the student body.

The moment everyone had been waiting for revealed that Paul Nevue was voted King Turkey of the evening.

New year rings in craziness

Many activities were planned for the winter of '77-'78, — some were unplanned. The Student Council saw to it that RHS was buzzing with holiday festivities when Christmas rolled around.

One involvement was the successful Canned Food Drive. In addition, the students enjoyed the hanging mistletoe. It wasn't uncommon to catch couples under it.

The Yule activities ended Dec. 22 with a dance which indicated Christmas had arrived.

The ringing in of the New Year brought a little craziness to most everyone. A few let their craziness loose at Diamond Lake by going innertubing and cross country skiing. Some students even sunbathed and waded in the lake, even though the temperature was 28 degrees.

Another event revolved around the controversy over the Mt. Nebo goats. It was in agreement with both the public and the Student Body that the goats be preserved.

Caroling turns to boogieing

Christmas is a time of Yuletide, good cheer, and caroling. The last is exactly what Shady Oak did on December 22 at the Community Building. The caroling wasn't in a Christmas vein, though, as many couples boogied to the rock sound of this Portland band. The Optimist Club, who sponsored the dance, opened the doors at 8:00 p.m., and the dance got underway at 8:30.

The dress was semi-formal, which gave many the excuse to dress up for the occasion. Almost everyone was in a cheery mood, in part because of the Christmas vacation that officially started that day.

Highlight of the night came when the Christmas Dance Queen and her court were announced. Michele Randolph was named Queen; Theresa Davis, Senior Princess; Diane Lopez, Junior Princess; and Bonnie Culberhouse, Sophomore Princess.

Price Runs to AAU Victories

Oregon's winter weather was its typical liquid sunshine self during the season between fall and spiring.

Most of the RHS students kept busy with various school related projects and sports. The Basketball, wrestling, and swimming-dive teams kept the RHS spectators busy for most of the winter months. Students got a chance to show most of their spirit during rowdy and exciting basketball games with the rival schools in the southern conference.

Some students participated in non-school related sports. One such student was Craig Price. He was a active throughout the winter with AAU Cross-scountry meets. He came in 33rd in the National AAU Championships in Washington during the winter. He was also the Oregon AAU 880 and 15 Kilometer Champion.

The weather caused many students to stay away from school due to colds and the flu. Officials felt it could have been a record for low attendance.

Myriad signs reflect spirit

The signs on the grounds were a significant part of campus life and affairs — even if the student body didn't realize it. The most recognized signs were those that showed the spirit of the student body for the athletes. The Bleacher Bums raised a few cheers and a few sneers from the spectators at the Basketball games by the domineering signs that they hung up.

Some of the more inconspicuous signs were ones such as parking stickers, which influenced one's life immensely if he didn't have one; bumper stickers, which gave cars personality; bulletin boards, which informed the students. The auditorium and the teepee served as a place for the students to scribble their name or a message. Signs saying Exit, One Way, and Do Not Enter were ever prevalent.

"Bug" Hits RHS Students

Spring was a busy time for many of the RHS students with several activities going simultaneously. For the seniors, spring wound down the long twelve years of school until the day of graduation June 4.

The spring "bug" commonly known as spring fever hit the RHS student body when days became brighter and warmer. When the thermometer reacher 90, sweaters vanished and sundresses appeared.

Some of the school activities these days consisted of the Symphonic band tour to San Francisco, and the Concert band tour to Canada. The drama department still did not have a theater to perform in, so it held a Spring Mime Circus in the auditorium while the choir deparment held a concert at the UCC auditorium.

Fools appear on night of 1st

April 1 was the night when more than 200 people dressed up as fools and attended the second annual Spring Twirp Dance at St. Joseph's gym.

The Fools' Twirp was sponsored by the Octagon Club in cooperation with the RHS Leadership class.

When King Fool was finally announced, Dave Skogland received the title of all-around King Fool. Skogland's court was Dave Drews, Senior Fool; Charley Beham, Junior Fool; and Brian Buck, Sophomore Fool.

Stage Set With Tropical Scenery

Palm trees, seashells, and a beautiful sunset painted the scene for the Junior-Senior Prom. All the tropical scenery collaborated with the theme of the Prom, "Island Paradise."

After months of planning and four days of manual labor by the junior class, the stage was transformed from a large dark room to colors of yellow, orange, and red in the large mural on one side of the Community Building.

The couples danced to the music of "Just Us", a local group. To keep up with tradition, the sophomore class served punch and refreshments.

"I only have eyes for you," the theme song, was playing while the queen and her court were announced. The queen was Betsy Hughes, and her princesses were LaVonne Conklin, Beth Cortney, Jodie Forney, Raelyn Palmer, Karen Mobley, and Lisa Randolf.

"The Time Has Come"

For the Class of '78 the time had come at the annual Senior Banquet held at the Community Building on May 16. All of the 400 seniors agreed with the theme, "The time has come." A sign with the same message was hung above the stage.

Gil's Chuck Wagon catered a delicious chicken dinner. After the meal, emcee Kathy McCurdy presented and narrated a slide show covering the lighter side of 1978 at RHS. After the slide show, Dr. Nees talked to the seniors informally about how he had followed the class personally through the years. He then wished them a bright and successful future.

The seniors themselves presented their peers the "Best and Most" awards, after which Kathy McCurdy was presented with roses for her planning and work with the Banquet.

That Which We Had Was Good . . .

June 4 was graduation day for 457 happy seniors. The hot sun was a major irritation as the graduates and spectators observed the commencement ceremony at Finlay Field.

The A Capella Choir Sang, after Reverend Delbert Pearce gave the invocation. After speeches were made by Reverend Kenneth Zank, Dr. Dale Nees, Kelly Godfrey, Donna Jackson, and Mark Matassa, diploma receipts were handed out.

The theme of the graduation was, "That which we had was good, but our hope will be a wakening dream."

a/ With a look of relief Dave Argo gladly receives his receipt. b/ After commencement, graduates rush out of the heat to Main Building for their diplomas. c/ Giving his last speech of the year, Mark Matassa says a final farewell to his classmates. d/ Seniors wait in the hot sun to receive their diploma holders.

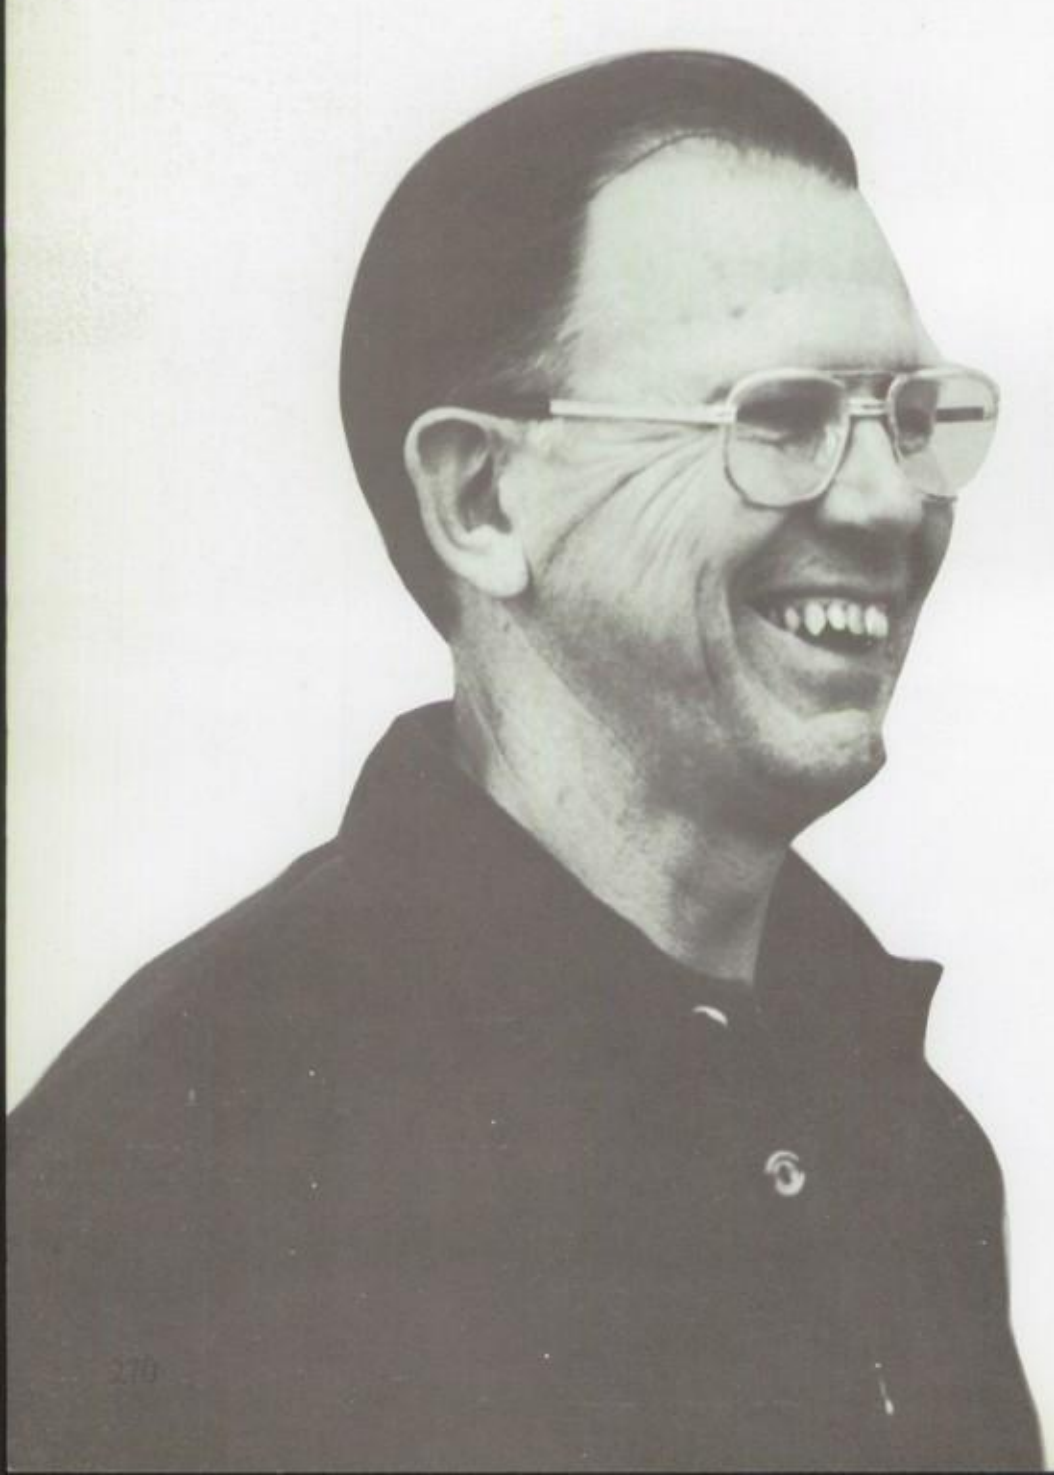
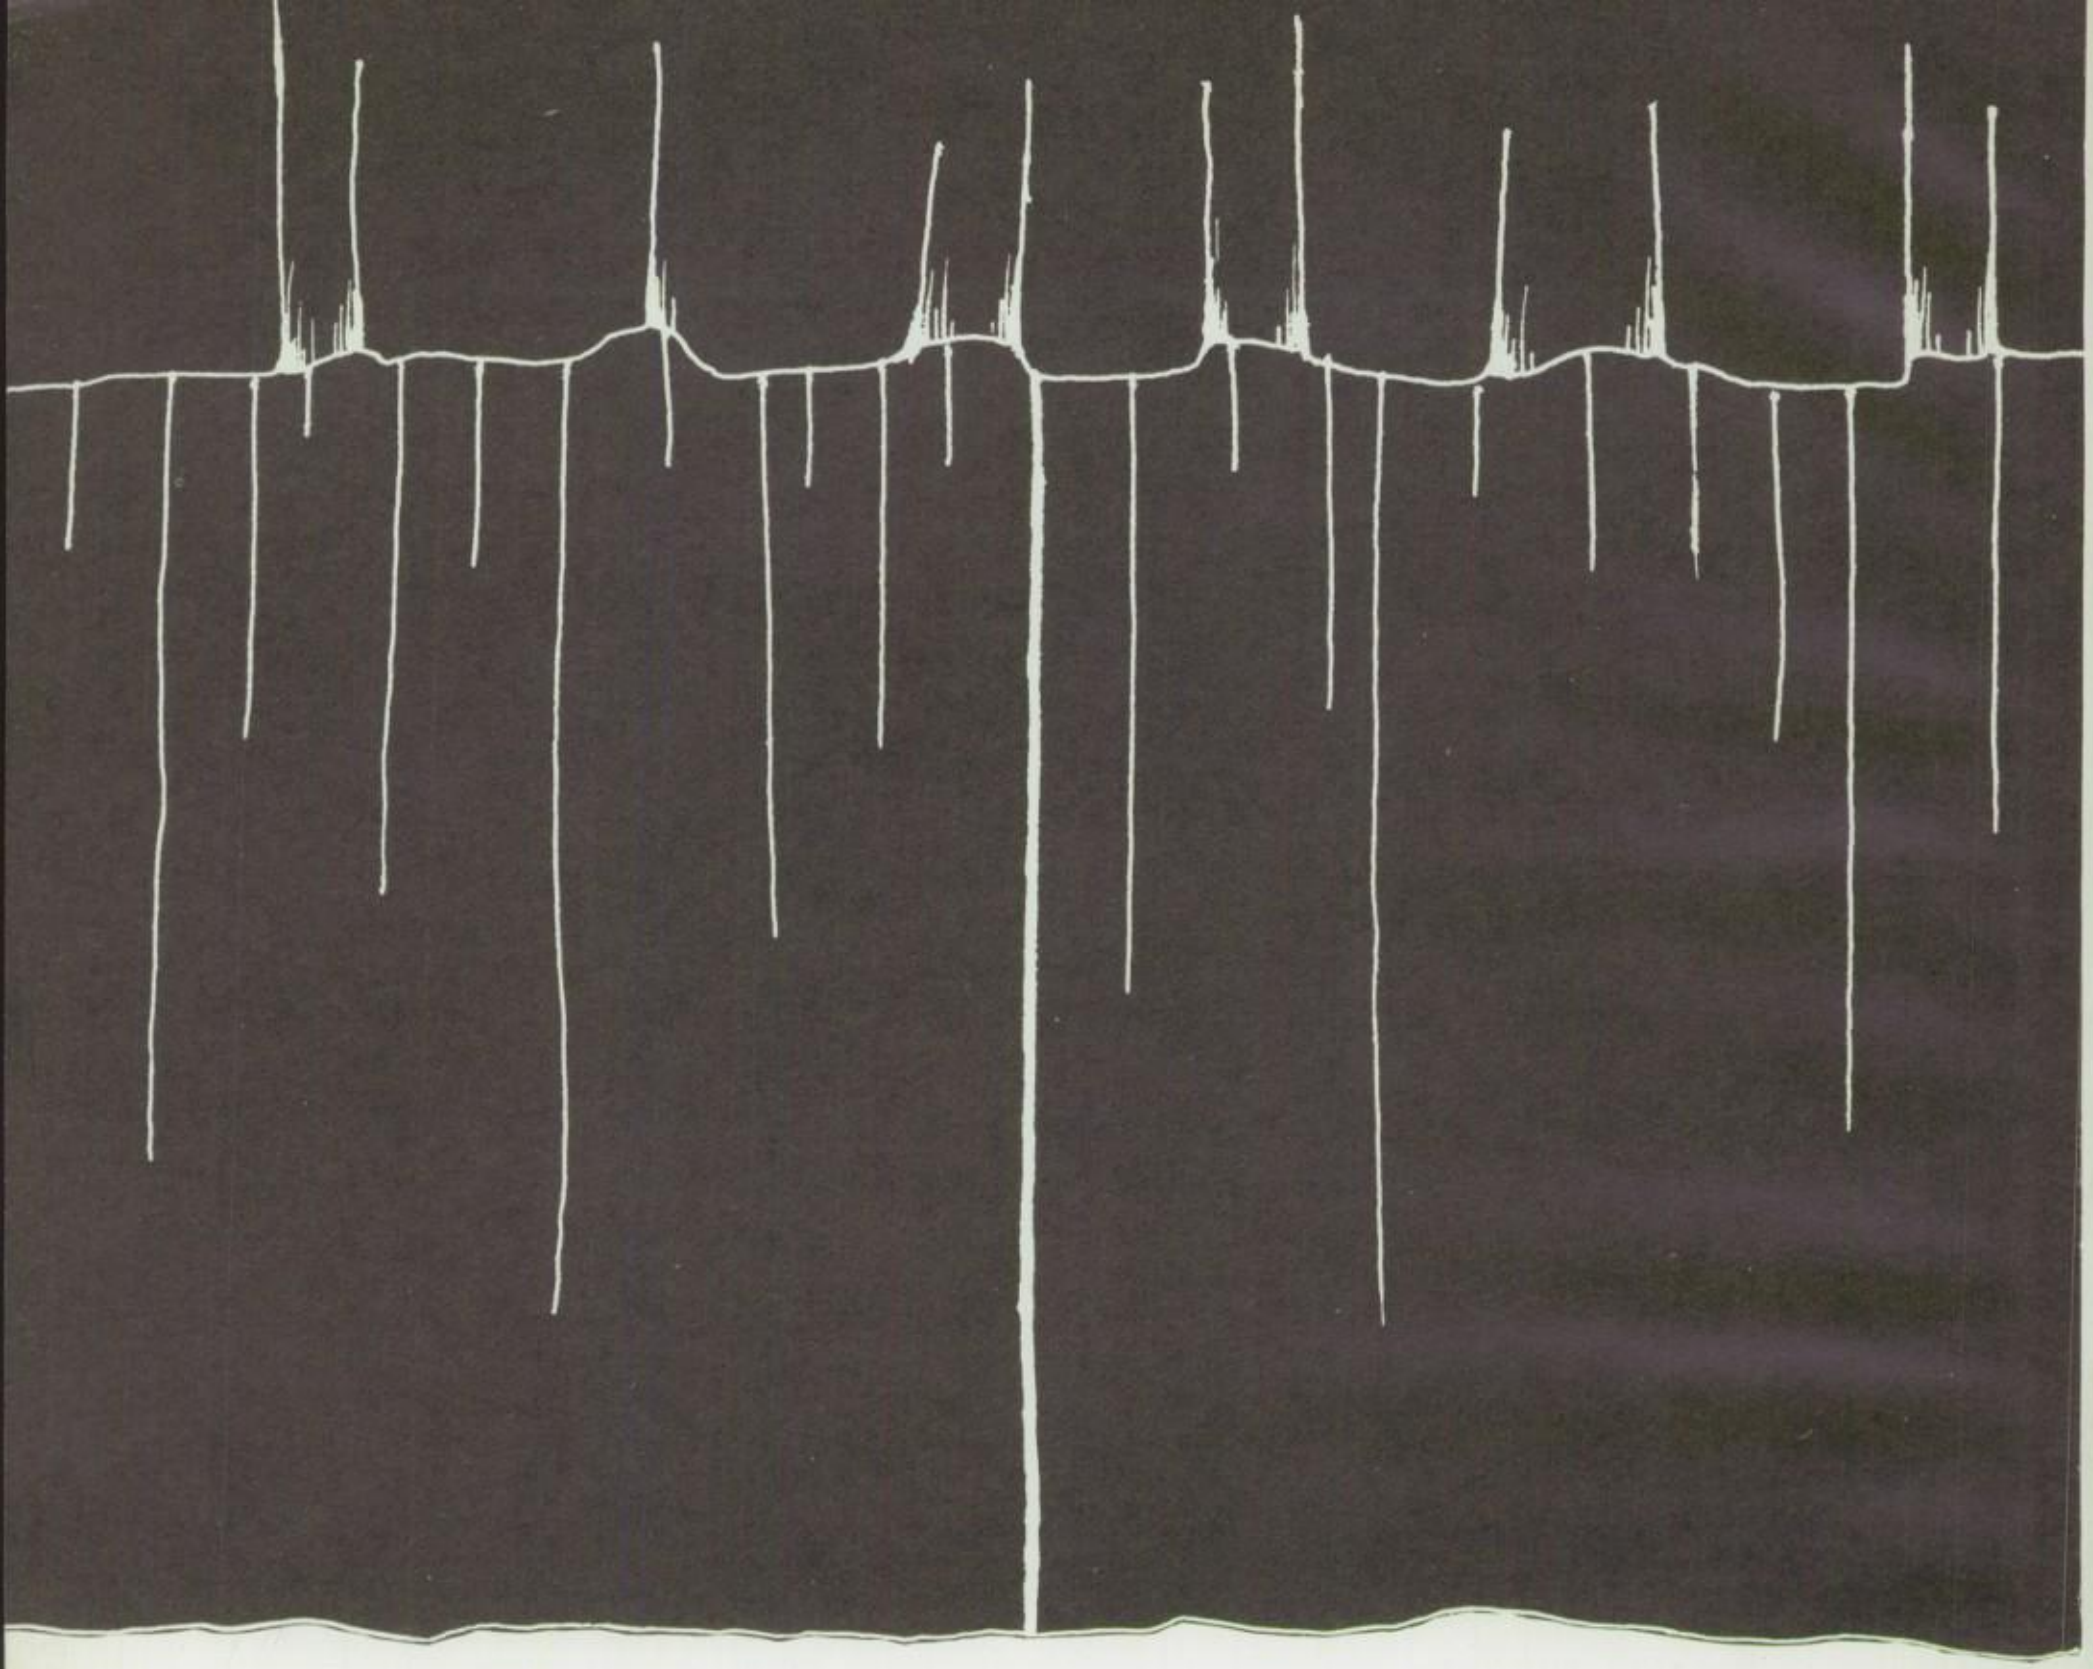
STAGE MANAGER. Well, time goes on like it has a habit of doing, and we find another year has past at Our School. The lonely teachers look on in their classrooms to see the desks dismally empty. You see, the students have left for vacation and the Seniors anxiously await the commencement exercises.





The STAGE MANAGER appears at the right, one hand on a dark curtain which he slowly draws across the stage.

STAGE MANAGER. It's time to draw the curtain on the year at Our School, my friends.

It was an eventful year, too. Why, this year we saw both our varsity football and varsity basketball teams qualify for the State Tournament. We saw a busy Homecoming Week culminate in Melissa Coleman's being crowned Homecoming Queen. Do you recall when Student Council raised money for the Kidney Association of Oregon by holding a Faculty/Varsity basketball game? How about when two Navy bands performed at assemblies? And Mr. Hoffman, the faculty member with the most years here, resigned as Athletic Director, while Spike Moore was not reappointed as Head Basketball Coach.

Yes, it's time to draw the curtain on another year at RHS. And although the year has past, memories will still linger on, partly due to this 1978 Umpqua and the people who made the book possible.

A million thanks go to Betty Anderson, our Taylor Publishing Company Representative, whose knowledge and guidance led us to create our "Taylor-made" annual. Also, our thorough gratitude goes to Student Lynn Heislein for her artwork on the Table of Contents page and on this Acknowledgement page. Very importantly, we owe thanks to Mr. Bill Willis and his staff at Douglas Portraits, who helped us meet our various deadlines with undue patience and generosity, and to the Orange-R school newspaper and its staff for its aid in some of our trying times. Too, aid with ads came from newspaperman Lee Kaylor. Above all, our deepest admiration, gratitude, and affection go to our annual advisor, Mr. Don Bodeen, whose unyielding strength, fairness, and perseverance inspired all who worked with him.

[THE END]

‘So, friends, this is the way we were in our growing up’
